LOCATION & SITUATION

North Finchley is located less than 10 miles from central London and is a prosperous residential and commercial area within the London Borough of Barnet.

 Finchley Central, East Finchley and West Finchley mean that three stations provide direct underground connection to central London in less than 30 minutes.

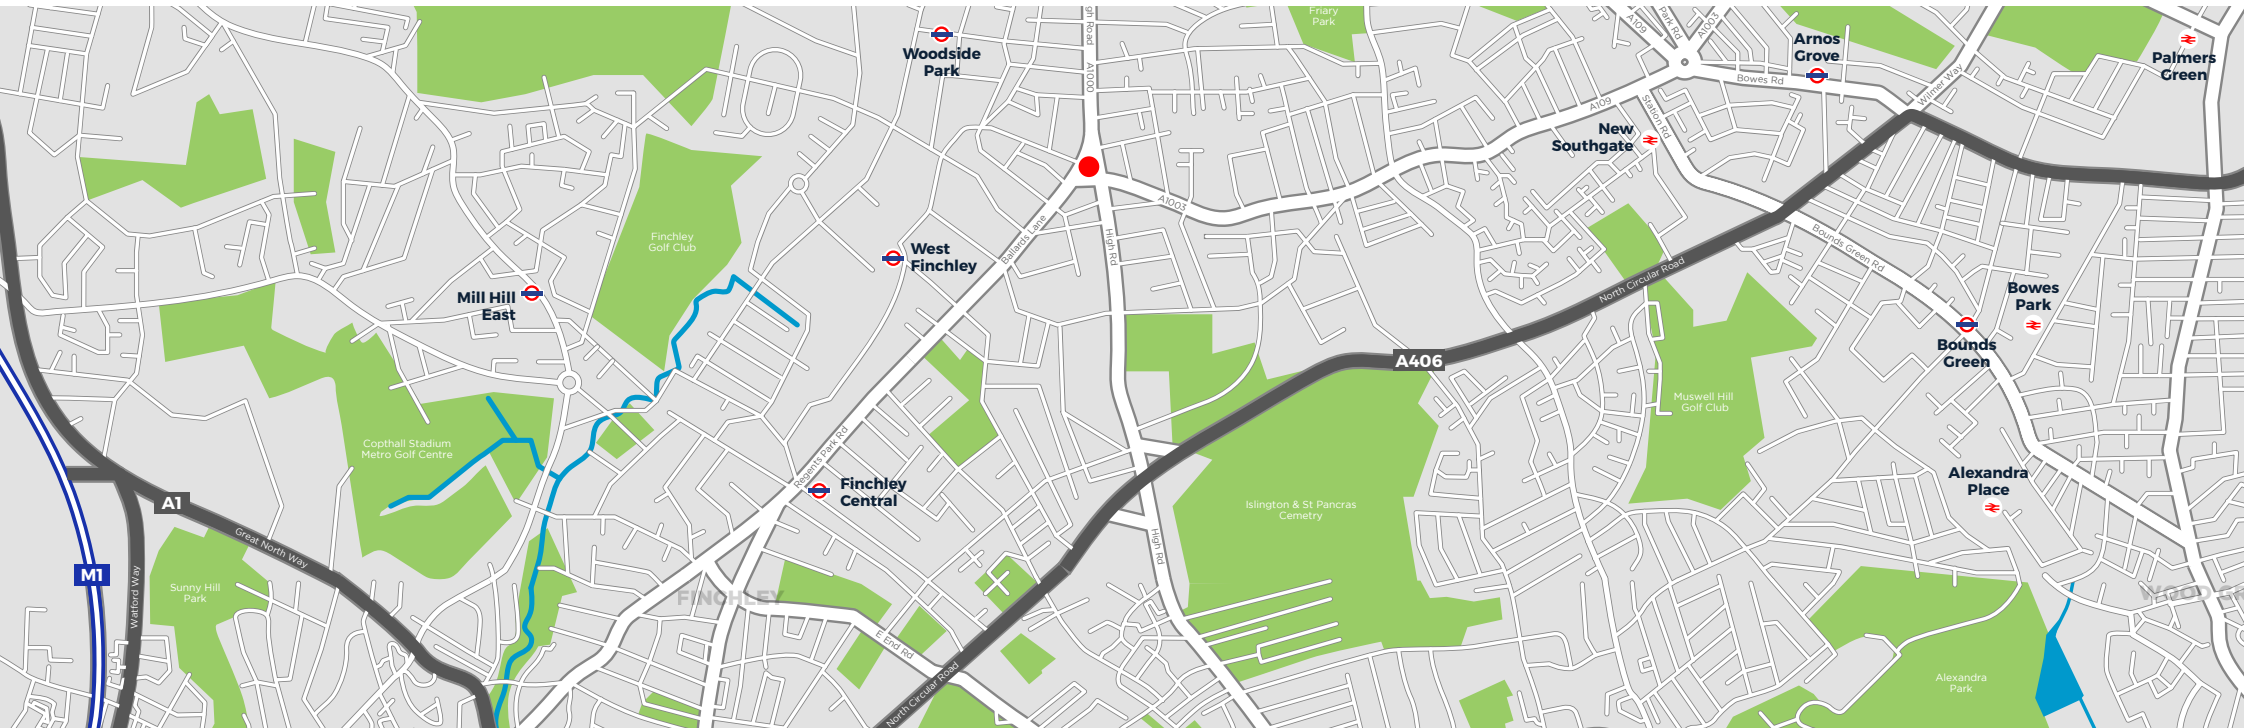

North Finchley Bus Station & depot is situated within the property itself which provides excellent travel connections both locally and to central London. This also results in a high footfall for the retail tenants at Tally Ho Corner.

North Finchley provides its residents with access to London's infrastructure through convenient road connections. These include the A1 for southbound travel to central London, the M1 for northern destinations and the Midlands, the M25 for circumnavigating London and connecting to the national motorway network, and the A406 North Circular for east and westward travel within London.

Heathrow Airport provides both international and domestic connections and is situated approximately 20 miles southwest of North Finchley. Stansted Airport, which also offers domestic and international connections, is around 36 miles to the northeast, while Luton Airport is approximately 26 miles to the north.

DESCRIPTION

This mixed-use building, constructed in the 2000s, comprises five ground floor retail units with gym, office and dance studio accommodation over the 2nd and 3rd floors along with a 233 space double basement car park.

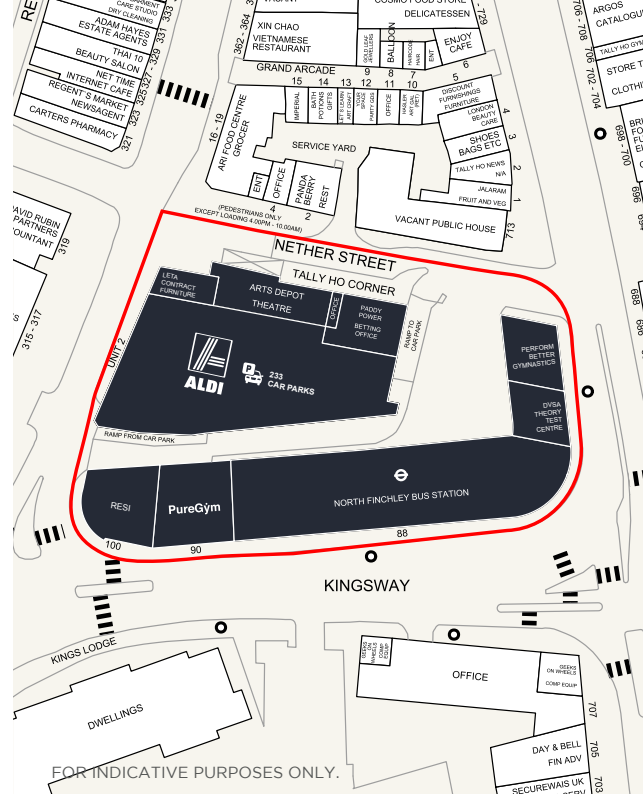

Additionally, the property includes a bus depot and twelve-storey residential tower on the eastern side which is sold off on a long lease.

SITUATION

Tally Ho Corner is located in the centre of North Finchley. North Finchley has a thriving retail centre along the High Road (A1000) and Ballards Lane, featuring a mix of shops, restaurants, and services. There are both national chains and independent businesses in the area such as Starbucks, Boots, JD Wetherspoon and Costa.

Finchley High Road (A1000) and Ballards Lane collectively constitute Finchley's retail hub. Along the High Road, several national chains, such as McDonald's, Boots and Superdrug have established their presence.

The area offers various cultural and recreational amenities, including parks, theatres, and community centres.

TENURE

The Property is held on a 999 year lease from 29th September 2004 at a peppercorn rent.

OVERVIEW

North Finchley is situated in the London Borough of Barnet. Barnet remains the second largest borough in London, the same ranking as in the 2011 Census with a population 389,300 (2021 Census).

The borough is known for its diversity, with various communities and neighbourhoods offering a mix of residential, commercial, and recreational spaces.

NORTH FINCHLEY REGENERATION PLAN

The North Finchley Regeneration Plan represents a visionary initiative aimed at revitalising and enhancing the urban landscape of North Finchley. This comprehensive plan encompasses various facets of urban development, including infrastructure improvements, public spaces, and commercial areas. The goal is to create a more vibrant and sustainable community that meets the evolving needs of residents and businesses.

With a focus on modern architecture, green spaces, and improved accessibility, the regeneration plan seeks to transform North Finchley into a thriving hub that fosters economic growth, community engagement, and overall well-being. The integration of sustainable practices and thoughtful design underscores a commitment to creating a more liveable and resilient urban environment for both current and future generations.

Tally Ho Corner is at the heart of the regeneration plan as the community arts centre, the artsdepot is located within the property itself. The artsdepot draws in more than 162,000 visitors annually, the artsdepot is an integral part of the proposed regeneration plan.

The plan aims to enhance the Tally Ho Corner overall. New signage, decluttering, the addition of mature trees, improved lighting and the incorporation of sheltered seating are just some of the items outlined in the proposal.
